

This is an aerial photograph of the Konstancin-Jeziorna area in Poland, overlaid with a coordinate grid. The map shows the Vistula River (Wisła) flowing through the region, with several tributaries and lakes. The town of Konstancin-Jeziorna is prominently featured in the center-right, with its residential areas and industrial zones. To the left, there are large, dark green forested areas. The map includes labels for various towns and locations, such as Warszawa, Konstancin, Jeziorna, and others. A red dashed line outlines the boundary of the Konstancin-Jeziorna urban area. The coordinate grid shows latitude and longitude values, with the map spanning from approximately 51°45'N to 52°00'N and 21°30'E to 21°45'E.

Wydanie IV 2019 r.